THE NATIONAL WAR COLLEGE
OFFICE OF THE COMMANDANT
WASHINGTON 25, D. C.

7 August 1958

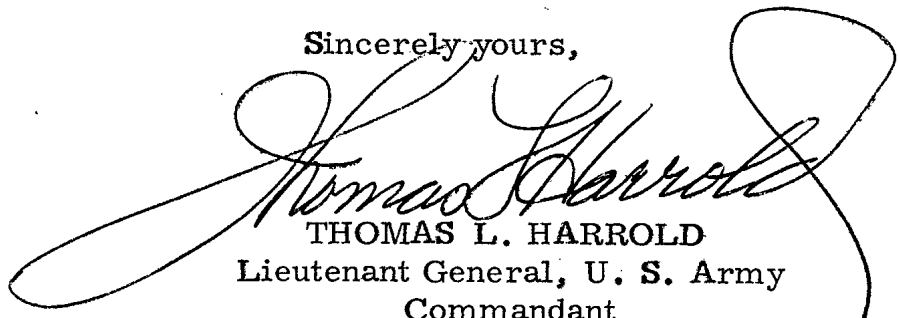

Dear Mr. Dulles:

The members of The National War College and the Industrial College of the Armed Forces would be very honored to have you address them, in joint assembly, at 9:00 a.m. on Monday, 27 October 1958.

On that day the class will be discussing the intelligence functions of the various government departments and the responsibility of the Central Intelligence Agency for coordinating all intelligence in the interest of national security. In view of your experience in international affairs and in the intelligence community, we are particularly anxious that members of both colleges have the privilege of hearing your views on the national intelligence function and how it influences the formulation of national security policy. I give this background of the course merely for your information.

Lieutenant General George W. Mundy, Commandant of the Industrial College of the Armed Forces, and myself, sincerely hope that we may have the pleasure of welcoming you back to The National War College on 27 October.

Sincerely yours,

THOMAS L. HARROLD
Lieutenant General, U. S. Army
Commandant

The Honorable Allen W. Dulles
Director, Central Intelligence Agency
